DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Liu et al. (New J. Chem. 2002, 26, 1485-1489).

The instant claims are directed to an ethylene polymerization process in the presence of ion-based tridentate complex covalently bonded to a polystyrene support.

Liu teach the preparation of ion-based tridentate complex covalently bonded to a polystyrene support by preparing a vinyl group containing ion-based tridentate complex first, then polymerizing the ion-based tridentate complex with styrene through radical polymerization to provide polystyrene supported ion-based tridentate complex catalyst particles; the ethylene is then polymerized in the presence of the catalyst particles and methyl aluminoxane (page 1487, left col.). Liu's teaching anticipates the instant claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 11-16 are allowed.

Liu's catalyst preparation process is different from those of the instant claims. In the instantly claimed process, the functional group containing polystyrene particles are prepared first, the ion-based tridentate complex is then covalently bonded to the polystyrene support, while in Liu's process, the ion-based tridentate complex is copolymerized with styrene monomer to provide the polystyrene supported catalyst.
